

Secondary league tables 2011: Best Baccalaureate results

This table lists the 200 schools in England that have highest scores for the English Baccalaureate.

The English Baccalaureate, introduced in 2010, and is awarded to pupils attaining A*-C GCSE passes in Mathematics, English, two Science qualifications, a language, and Geography or History.

The average number of points scored per pupil is used as a tie-break.

Schools marked IND are independent, those marked SEL select their pupils on the basis of academic activity. Schools marked AC are academies. Schools with fewer than 30 pupils are not included.
